

SUBSCRIBER ONLY

Newsmakers for January 14

NEWSMAKERS

Muhlenberg Greene Architects

Muhlenberg Greene Architects has announced that Grace Cai, AIA, has joined the firm as a project architect. Cai brings more than 15 years of architectural design and construction management experience to the firm.

Grace Cai (Photo Courtesy Muhlenberg Greene Architects)

At Muhlenberg Greene, she will oversee projects from initial planning and schematic design through construction completion. Cai earned a Bachelor of Architecture degree from Florida Atlantic University in 2004 and a Bachelor of Building Engineering, specializing in structural design and construction management, with a second degree in interior design, from Tonji University in China. A registered architect in Pennsylvania and Florida, Cai specializes in commercial architecture, construction documentation and administration.

Fluent in Chinese, Cai was born in China, and moved to the United States. She previously lived in Florida and Ohio, and currently lives in Chester County. Cai will work out of the firm's Wyomissing office, but as customary, she will support projects throughout the firm's service area, including eight states and the District of Columbia.